WAY BACK WHEN... BEFORE TIRES WERE ROUND. WHO WOULD HAVE EVER THUNK IT?

Fifty years ago, Moses Lippincott owned a piece of property that in a roundabout way, would be known as Kitty's Roadhouse.

Back in 1958, Bruce and Bernice Edwards would purchase the land from Mr. Lippincott. A 30x50 brick building was erected in 1960 that Bob Schmitz would lease. The new business would be called "Schmitt's" and was known as a place to get away. The date is unknown when Bruce and Irene Vomweg leased the establishment and changed the name to "Bruce's." Little, if anything, is known about the history, patrons or parties that were going on at "Bruce's" at the time. We are pretty sure that "fun was had by all."

Art and Carolyn Kitten step into the picture in 1972 when Art was working for NPPD and was asked to transfer to Norfolk. Instead of making the move, Art and Carolyn, along with their family, decided to lease/buy the bar from Bruce Edwards. Changes were made with fresh paint and a new sign that said "Kitty's." They raised five kids while owning the bar – Andrea, Shelly, Jackie, Rod and Brennon. When the kids were in high school and college, they thought it was always "cool" to bring their friends to the bar and hang out. Carolyn said, "There were never any famous people that came through the front door, but many good friends."

Because there are sooo many fond memories along with all the friendships, fun and history behind Kitty's, Kim and Owen Nelson decided to keep the name after purchasing the business in 2009 from the Kitten family. Roadhouse was added to the name Kitty's to add some distinction. In modern days, Roadhouse stands for a food and beverage establishment, but history has it that a Roadhouse was a parlor (bar), billiard room and dance hall with "other" more colorful entertainment for the men in the basement. No, Kitty's has no basement, but does anyone want to help us dig one?

Kim and Owen Nelson have been in the Hastings area since 1991, and have three kids – Toby, Chad and Teneil. They have decided to turn a new corner in their lives by keeping Kitty's open and helping out the community of Hastings.

KITTY'S ROADHOUSE – YOU HAVE TO SEE IT TO BELIEVE IT.

THANK YOU!

Our only concern is to give you the best!

GO GREEN -N- GO HEALTHY WHAT DOES BROASTED MEAN?

Kitty's uses only the "BEST" products in their famous Broaster Pressure Fryers!

The Roadhouse broasted pressure fryer works by being sealed and under pressure (unlike all open frying units) so your food is crispy on the outside and moist on the inside. That means there is 60-90% less oil being evaporated and absorbed into the food.

Broasting takes less cooking time because all the heat is contained. Kitty's Roadhouse broaster pressure fryer uses 48% less energy. Therefore, GO GREEN

The Roadhouse also uses a special marinade that is infused clear to the bone and uses a lot less breading than open frying units. Kitty's specialized recipe and way of cooking has no trans-fats, no cholesterol, and is low in saturated fat. Therefore, GO HEALTHY

WOOD-FIRED OVENS

AT KITTY'S ROADHOUSE... Wood-fired brick ovens and pizza have been with us since the dawn of civilization. Both have been discovered in the excavations of virtually every ancient community, and there are mentions of flat breads cooked on a hot stone throughout antiquity.

Skills, combined with the ready availability of both brick ovens and traditional pizza ingredients, including cured meats, olive oil, pine nuts, capers, garlic, onion, cheese and herbs leads us to imagine that they also made good pizza. They had everything but the tomatoes.

With the fall of the Roman Empire, skill and knowledge in many pursuits were lost, including cooking. I have trouble imagining the Duke eating a good, hot medieval pizza somewhere off in his drafty castle. Nonetheless, round brick ovens were a critical component of food and cooking in the middle ages.

The term pizza was first used in an Italian cookbook in 997 A.D. The tomato arrived in Europe from the New World in the 16th century, and the word pizzaiolo was first mentioned in the 17th century. Naples wins the award for doing the best job of laying claim to being the birthplace of pizza, though some in the Italian restaurant business believe that Venice banned wood burning furnaces in the city in the 13th century after they got tired of burning the city down. To this day, there are no wood fired pizzerias in Venice.

Regardless, pizzerias started appearing in Naples in the early 18th century, with the world's first true pizzeria, Antica Pizzeria Port 'Alba, opening in Naples in 1830. The story of the Margherita pizza (tomato, mozzarella and basil) are the color of the Italian flag. As another aside, the Italian soccer team is called the Azzurre, or blue.

The first pizzeria in the U.S. opened in 1905, and in the aftermath of WWII, returning American GIs created what has become an insatiable appetite for pizza - first in America, and then around the globe. Today, pizza has grown to become a 30+ billion dollar business, with millions of pizzas consumed daily. Sadly, most of them are not very good, or very good for you. This is where we come in.
